Once upon a time, there lived a poor woodcutter in a small village. He was very honest and hardworking. Every day, he went to the forest to cut wood and sold it in the market to earn money.

One day, while cutting wood near a river, his axe slipped from his hand and fell into the water. The river was deep, and he did not know how to swim. He sat near the river and began to cry.

Suddenly, a fairy appeared before him. She asked him why he was crying. The woodcutter told her the truth. The fairy dived into the river and brought out a golden axe. She asked, "Is this your axe?" The woodcutter said, "No, this is not mine."

Then she brought out a silver axe. Again, he said it was not his. Finally, she brought his old iron axe. The woodcutter smiled and said, "Yes, this is my axe."

The fairy was happy with his honesty. She gave him all three axes as a reward. The woodcutter thanked her and went home happily.
